

Minnesota PRSA lists 2010 leaders

The Minnesota chapter of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA) on Tuesday announced its slate of leaders for 2010.

This year's leaders, which make up the PRSA executive committee, are headed by Candee Wolf, PRSA president. Wolf is marketing and communications director for American Dental Partners and its local dental care affiliates.

Other 2010 officers, their PRSA titles and employers are Brooke Worden, PRSA vice president, vice president in the financial services group at Bloomington PR firm Weber Shandwick; Brant Skogrand, PRSA treasurer, vice president at New Brighton firm Risdall McKinney PR; Arik C. Hanson, PRSA secretary, principal of digital communications firm ACH Communications; and David Kostik, PRSA ethics officer, president of Minneapolis firm Kostik Associates Inc.

The Minnesota PRSA chapter has 350 members representing a variety of PR firms, business and industry communications, government and nonprofits.

— Bob Geiger